Also this week, “New Work: Newark in 3-D,” by Newark-based filmmakers Marylou and Jerome Bongiorno, is being screened at an unlikely venue: two locations at Newark Liberty International Airport’s Terminal B. The unique six-minute film, inspired by the 1920 avant-garde film Manhatta, features 3-D images of Newark taken from unusual vantage points and a soundtrack of spoken-word poetry performed by Newark artists.

The film is being shown through Jan. 15. Click here for more information.
